

John Latini grew up in Queens and Long Island in New York playing music around the kitchen table with his family, and then in bands in high school and college. Now, he resides in Michigan, and for him, it's still about family, friends and music. John is a 3-time winning representative of the Detroit Blues Challenge. He has won multiple accolades and songwriting awards in a variety of genres, and his album, "The Blues Just Makes Me Feel Good" claimed the 23rd spot out of the Top 200 Contemporary Blues Albums of 2017, and received 41 shining reviews.

Grant Britt, from No Depression Magazine had this to say about John's record,

"This is a great find, every cut a pleasing earwash that spreads quickly through your suddenly not so nervous system curing stuff you didn't even know was wrong witcha. Your prescription is ready-come and get it."

Listening to John's music from his 4 albums and his live shows, you'll hear not only the blues, but other influences including rock, soul, folk and country. Please make welcome JOHN LATINI!
