

Three-time Irish Music Award Nominees Siusan & Zig add another layer to their performances by welcoming a few of their cohorts into the fold. The band is called Monday's Supper - the tastiest Irish music with none of the fuss!

The addition of Kat Morris and Nellie Schrantz bring some fun and lively elements to the mix by including fiddle, bodhran (drum), whistles and harmony vocals. This new set-up enhances what the duo has already been doing for years, but gives it more power and a new celebratory attitude that works well in festival and larger theater settings.

As always, the repertoire includes age-old traditional Irish songs, alongside new and contemporary music, plus some energetic reels. In 2016, Monday's Supper was selected for a juried showcase at the Tri State Performing Arts Conference in Iowa. The band has performed at showcases, in concert at theaters and venues of all sizes, and Irish and Folk Festivals throughout the Midwestern and Northern states, collecting followers of their music all along the way!
